AT MULTILINE, WE AIM TO COLLABORATE ON PROJECTS THAT ARE NOT ONLY FUNCTIONAL BUT ALSO AESTHETIC AND INSPIRING

THIS IS MADE POSSIBLE BY OUR COMMITMENT TO MEETING HIGH STANDARDS, DRIVEN BY A SHARED VISION OF QUALITY AND INNOVATION. FROM AN ARCHITECTURAL PERSPECTIVE, A VISUALLY IMPRESSIVE CEILING LOSES ITS IMPACT IF THE LUMINAIRES FAIL TO COMPLEMENT THE DESIGN

THAT'S WHY WE DEVELOPED OUR REKTA PRODUCT LINE — THE GO-TO SOLUTION FOR ANY CEILING

LIGHT FOLLOWS FUNCTION

Under the leadership of the family Rahne, Multiline has been an important player in the world of architectural lighting since 1982. Managing directors Monika and Klaus Rahne are now continuing the work their father started when he founded the company. Klaus reveals how they carry on his mission as a trendsetter in the world of architectural lighting.

"Multiline is known for its linear lighting solutions, with an extensive assortment of different models. To justify the term 'custom-made', we try to integrate as many different techniques and accessories as possible into the profiles, for example different types of diffusers, corner connections, loudspeakers, power rails, spots, uplighters and emergency lighting/emergency icons. We continue to innovate and update our lighting systems. The current range is extremely versatile and unlimited. On a technical level, we could meet almost any demand."

"Customized linear lighting and the development of luminaires in function of specific projects remain our speciality. Our lighting architects offer customers full support in terms of light plans and studies. From the very beginning, we think along with the client, the prescriber or the architect and provide advice in function of every specific space, while respecting the fundamental principle of light follows function."

AT MULTILINE WE ARE ALWAYS FINDING THE SOLUTION TO THE QUESTION OF WHICH LIGHT IS BEST IN FUNCTION OF THE USE

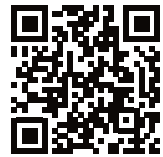

"Our goal is to keep innovating and to stay on top of market trends or even anticipate them. Energy efficiency, sustainability, circularity and smart lighting solutions are the keywords that will help determine the future of lighting. We also want to contribute to a healthy indoor climate in buildings where human-centric lighting is essential."

"Our strength lies in the knowhow, the available tools and the experience to develop new shapes and ideas as well as to integrate new techniques. We want to completely unburden our customers and fulfil a role that extends much further than that of a mere manufacturer. With our expertise in production, lighting advice and design, we are able to distinguish ourselves and continue to grow healthily as a durable company. As we have always done. Our new products and unique projects prove that our story is far from over."

A photograph of a long, brightly lit concrete corridor. The floor is covered in a pattern of light and dark stripes. The walls are made of concrete, and the ceiling is also concrete. The corridor is illuminated by warm, yellow light from recessed fixtures. On the left side, there is a row of concrete columns. The corridor leads to an outdoor area with a grassy slope and a clear sky.
